Student Council

FIRST ROW: Alvin Werries, Eleanor Brasell, Judy Zulauf, Lindy Wood, Patty Criss. SECOND ROW: Joe Rayburn, Tim Huey, Carol Lovekamp, Gene Hymes, Ken Phelps.

The Triopia Student Council was formed by the student councils of both high schools electing one representative for each of the four classes. The president of each student council also became members. This gave each school five representatives in the combined council.

The purpose of the Triopia Student Council is the same as that of all other student councils, but its main concern is with our combined music and athletics. It was formed to handle the problems arising from the combination and to help the program runsmoothly.

Planning this year's homecoming was the combined council's first major activity.

"The Boarding House Reach"

FIRST ROW: C. Maschmeier, J. Hackman, D. Clark, J. Nelson, C. Mullens, T. Noble, L. Wood, E. Brasell, R. Kershaw, J. Roegge. SECOND ROW: Mrs. Clupper, B. McLin, E. Dufelmeier, W. Mason, B. Burrus, S. Hansmeier, E. Carls, M. Strubbe, E. Hackman, A. Leischner.

"The Boarding House Reach" was presented by the Junior class on November 19, 1959. A hilarious comedy, the play opened with Wilbur Maxwell's desire to earn money to buy a bicycle. When his parents go away on a short trip, Wilbur and his friend, Hercules Nelson, rent out the Maxwell house to an odd assortment of roomers.

When two of the roomers turn out to be a bank robber and his wife and when Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell unexpectedly return home, the play comes to an unpredictable and speedy climax, which provided laughs and fun for all.

"Shy Guy"

"Shy Guy" a three-act comedy under the direction of Mrs. Riley was presented by the Junior Class on January 14. The "Shy Guy" is teen-age Fred Hastings. Fred has a marvelous talent for football and getting himself into trouble. Long-suffering Papa Hastings has his hands full trying to keep abreast of the antics of Fred and his feather-brained Mother. Fred's "Bright Ideas" have him into such trouble he decides the only way out is to confess the truth about everything. It was great entertainment.

"Cat o' Nine Tails"

The senior class play, "Cat O' Nine Tails," was presented April 29, 1960, under the direction of Mrs. Alice Clupper.

As the play unfolds, Henry, the Shakespeare quoting choreboy (Mark Abernathy), sneaks across the darkened stage and chokes the beautiful Ted Martland (Suellen Stiltz). Upon hearing her screams the distinguished Mr. Gordon (Gerald Roegge) rushes on stage. As the first act ends, Jacob, the caretaker (Merv Beets), who is an extremely poor shot, falls on stage, after shooting himself.

After this, nervous Mrs. Gordon (Alice Alexander) is completely unstrung. Betty Webber (Donna Staake) and Jimmy Gordon (Bob Clark) have problems of their own trying to conceal their secret marriage form Jimmy's parents. Two detectives appear on the scene: Fox, an egotistical detective who has never lost a case (Charles Ater) and Miss Smith, a female Sherlock Holmes (Carol Lovekamp), who makes her grand entrance through the chimney and who gets up Bridget, the lovable Irish cook (Kristine Natemeyer) and her charming daughter Peggy (Janet Dahman) in the middle of the night to question them. After finding a trap door, a human skeleton, and the missing member of the household, the play ends on a thrilling note exposing Henry as the super criminal "Cat of 9 Tails."
